Airfields Double As Farms In Norway

With only 4% of its total area suitable for agriculture, Norway is utilizing the land between airfield runways to grow grass and grain. At present, about 4,500 acres are under cultivation at civilian and military airfields, mostly leased to farmers.

Sola, with 500 acres of cultivated land, is the largest airfield farm directly administered by the Civil Aviation Directorate. Half of the crop area, sown to grain, is operated by airport authorities. The rest is leased to a grass feed plant. With the exception of Fornebu, all of the nation's civil airfields are now used for farming, as well. The total crop area is about 865 acres.

At airfields administered by the Air Force, about 3,622 acres yield valuable farm crops. Biggest of the military airfield farms are Rygge and Andoya, with 340 and 280 acres, respectively.

The Shareholders' Campaign—September 6 - October 18, 1960

Since November, 1959, we have held three share-selling campaigns and raised our building fund from $16,000 to $40,000. This terrific job has been done by a handful of faithful canvassers working many hours over-time.

During this campaign, many shareholders have expressed a desire to do something towards the realization of a "Centre" in 1961. Your committee has therefore decided to launch "THE SHAREHOLDERS' CAMPAIGN".

This is YOUR campaign. If every shareholder will put his shoulder to the wheel and sell one or more shares, we will almost double our building fund. The campaign official starts on September 5, 1960. You have six weeks to sell one share, but don't wait until the last minute. Start right now!

You will be phoned or contacted by one of the following committee:

S. A. Sorenson, Ph. HO 6-1839 W. G. Halldorson,
or GA 4-7311 Ph. GL 5-8931

R. O. Sund, Ph. HO 6-0243 A. Modin, Ph. GE 9-2967

S. J. Johnson, Ph. HO 6-1282 J. Rama, Ph. GE 3-4254

Support your captain by selling one or more shares. Your captain wants the honor of having his group of shareholders sell the most shares; you will be awarded one silver dollar for each share you sell.

Autumn Dance and Social Evening

On September 23rd at the Jubilee Auditorium you will meet your fellow-shareholders and friends. It will give you an opportunity to discuss mutual interests in the realization of our dream of a Scandinavian Centre in Edmonton; and to make appointments with friends desirous of becoming a part of the Centre project. It will be an evening of fun and fellowship, so we will be seeing you at the Jubilee Auditorium.

Remember, we want to boost the thermometer up to $65,000 during the Shareholders' Campaign. Will you do your part?

The Co-Operative Associations Act

By Mons Eliasson

There is a quotation "Money Talks." However, in a co-operative association money does not have a voice.

It is important that all concerned should realize the provisions fully. No matter how much money an individual member or organized group puts into the association in the form of applications for shares, there is no corresponding granting of privileges to that person or organized group. This is a very important part of the functions of a co-operative and becomes the effective defence in any legal action to force the co-operative into a taxation equality to privately operated concerns.

Any statement such as I or We have so much money invested in the association we should have something to say, does not ring a bell.

The Co-operative - Part 2 Associations Act: The following chapter of the Act is of the utmost importance and every member should acquaint himself with its full meaning in respect to the proper functions of their co-operative.

Chapter 6 - CO.C. 2242-46 Meetings:

B. The annual meeting shall be held annually within sixty days of the end of the fiscal year of the association, at such hour and place as may be determined by the board of directors.

C. A special general meeting of the association may be called at any time by the directors, whenever they deem the same necessary or advisable.

It shall be necessary for the directors to call a special general meeting whenever requested to do so in writing by twenty-four per cent of the members.

Any such written request shall state clearly the nature of business to be transacted at such meeting. If, upon request, the directors do not within fourteen days proceed to call a special meeting of the association the members making the request or any other members of the required number, may themselves call the said meeting.

D. At least ten days notice of every general or special meeting shall be given, by mailing a notice to each member of the association at the address last registered in the office of the association. The notice must state the hour, day and place of the meeting.

E. At any general or special meeting one-fifth of the registered members of the association or their fully authorized district delegates shall constitute a quorum.

F. If within one hour from the time appointed for any meeting of the association, a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the request of members, shall be dissolved. In any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week at the same time and place, and if at such adjourned meeting a quorum is not present it shall be adjourned sine die.

It should be in the interest of every member to make certain that their association does not find itself in a predicament as shown in this part of the Act. Make certain that you are present if at all possible, to personally cast your vote and have a voice in the proceedings of the meeting.

Dania, Dominion Bridge Tie Soccer Score

In the City League soccer game at Clarke Stadium Friday night, Dania and Dominion Bridge came out of the tussle with a tie of one all. Leif Jensen scored for Dania and George Debney for the Bridge.

Dania appeared to be the better team, but the approximately 200 fans appeared satisfied with the result. The goalies for both teams, Walter Deritsch for Bridge and Arnie Heinonen for Dania, were responsible for some good saves. Paul Andersen and Christensen came up with good shots in the late stages, but were unable to press them home.

California Girl Scouts Visit Alaska

The rigors of camp life, with snow storms, ice in camping gear and tire trouble have not dampened the spirits of 23 Girl Scouts, along with their leader, Mrs. Ralph Jenkins and seven other adults from Baldwin Park, Calif., on their camping trip through the north-western States, western Canada and Alaska.

They arrived in Edmonton Friday when they joined the Edmonton Rangers for a weiner roast and campfire program. Saturday morning they were taken on a city tour as guests of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and later that day left for Jasper and Banff.

Their journey north took them through British Columbia and Alaska and returning south they came through the Yukon and Alberta. In Anchorage the mayor proclaimed a Baldwin Park Day in their honor and presented them with the key to the city. In Fairbanks, caribou horns to decorate their four station wagons were the gift of the Girl Scout troop of that city.

The Girl Scouts sleep in tents and cook all their meals. They had wonderful praise for the Alberta campsites. They were also pleased with Canadian hospitality. Many of the girls had never been outside of the United States. The trip is the result of four years planning and is an experience they will long remember. They will arrive home Sept. 4 to prepare for school in a weeks time.

One disappointment in the trip took place in Fairbanks, when one of the 24 high school girls in the group had to be flown home because of illness.

SWIM CHAMPION SYLVAN LAKE
Former U.S. and world swimming champion, Janice White, plans to make a long distance swim at Sylvan Lake on Labor Day, Sept. 5, according to her manager, John Duel.

She led women contestants in the swim on the icy Juan De Fuca Strait, Aug. 26, 1956. She came third with two men outlasting her by a small margin, all ten entrants failing in their bids. She spent 10 hours in the water in that swim. In 1957 Miss White set a salt water record of 29 miles in 15 hours, 10 minutes in the Strait of Georgia.

From Selma, Ala., Miss White is spending the summer in Edmonton.

THEY DON'T LIKE SCHOOL

By Elsie Simmons

Out of interest and curiosity, I asked youngsters of different ages and circumstances how they felt about going back to school after the summer holidays. The answers from a large majority of those questioned were that they 'dreaded' 'hated' or otherwise indicated they were not at all enthused. Only a few were happy about school opening.

These reactions have troubled me. Many years ago when schools were austere, unattractive and extremely limited as to facilities, children looked forward to returning to the classrooms after the long summer holidays. In fact, as I well remember, it was difficult for parents to get the youngsters to stay home for reasons of illness or extremely cold weather. In these days children had to walk as far as four miles to school, depending on how far the schoolhouse was situated from their homes. There were no cars nor buses to carry them. The trails which they had to travel were rough — in winter drifted with snow and in spring flooded with swollen streams. On very cold days a farmer would hitch his horses to a sleigh and drive his own children, and those of other families on the same route to school. Truancy was a rare thing in those days, at least in farm communities.

But then maybe it was because life at home was not so easy. There was much a youngster could help with then, and many of the tasks were tiring and boring. So perhaps school was the easier choice.

However, it occurs to me that the magnificent schools of today, under the system of the past two or more decades, have not measured up in accomplishment to what had been hoped. Tremendous amounts of money and time have been expended toward making study "easy," school "fun," and learning "attractive," etc., and still a large percentage of our young generation "hates" school. But then who can really get up much enthusiasm for ease and fun when that is what they can have lots of outside school. There must be a great deal of punch and challenge in any enterprise to make it appealing. Nothing worthwhile has ever been accomplished through ease and fun. It takes hard work, stiff training and long practice to master any important job, whether in the fields of arts, sciences or trades.

To come to terms with life itself one must be prepared to face many arduous tasks and often bitter disappointments. Coddling children does not tend to endow them with the character needed to meet life's trials as they grow up.

Of course it is not conceivable that we should go back to the old system of education. But it does seem there were certain methods practised in the old schools that made better scholars out of the pupils. These could well be taken down from the shelf, given a good look, polished up and put into use again in the curriculum of today.

their second child, a baby boy.

The Supreme Convention of the Sons of Norway held this year at Vancouver, was a tremendous success. Mr. S. A. Sorenson, Fourth District president attended as an official delegate while Mrs. Sorenson and Mrs. M. MacDonald went as visitors. All report a wonderful time and a truly inspiring convention.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Sorenson and daughter Shoran motored through the Yellowhead Pass on their way to Vancouver on their recent holiday trip. Returning home they travelled through Prince George, Dawson Creek and Grande Prairie.

Wedding bells will be ringing for the following happy couples: Kenneth Ronald Sivertsen son of Mrs. R. Sivertsen, and Miss Joan Marie Lawrence plan to be married at Partridge Hill United Church on September 10.

One week later, on September 17, Robert Henry Sivertsen and Miss Judith Lee Chapman will pledge vows at All Saints Cathedral.

A spring wedding is planned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Logan for their daughter Valerie whose engagement to Mr. Roland Johnson has recently been announced.

A wedding next summer will unite Miss Eva Milabar and Mr. Walter Myer who have announced their recent engagement.

Mrs. Bredeson spent part of the summer visiting with her family in Hardisty and Camrose.

Mr. Karl Johnsrud returned on August 8 after spending a very enjoyable two months in Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vollen of Trondhjem, Norway are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Vollen. They visited in the state of Washington and motored here from the west coast with Mr. and Mrs. Vollen. This is their first trip to Canada and they are impressed with the friendliness of the Cana-

Sweden's Pavilion Popular At Chicago International Trade Fair

Sweden participated with a pavilion of its own at the recently ended International Trade Fair in Chicago. More than half of the total area of 3,250 square feet was devoted to "Swedish Modern" furniture, while in another part were shown "Swedish Kitchen Ideas," where visitors could familiarize themselves with Swedish household equipment and kitchen fittings. A special section featured Swedish glass. Twenty-five large Swedish business firms were behind the Swedish participation. The government had contributed economic and administrative support.

The pavilion was built in Helsingborg, in southern Sweden, and transported via the St. Lawrence Waterway to Chicago, where the well-known Swedish-American builder, Ragnar Benson, put it up. One of the main attractions was a collection of color photographs by the noted Stockholm cameraman K. W. Cullers, showing scenes from the Swedish steel, metal and timber industries. Over 450,000 persons visited the fair, in which twenty-five countries participated. The Swedish exporters signed over 300 contracts in addition to receiving some 2,000 inquiries from American buyers. The pavilion was visited by Frederick H. Mueller, United States secretary of commerce and Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago. In charge of the unit was Asders Attiling, Swedish commercial secretary in Chicago. The American Institute of Decorators gave an honorable mention to a Swedish easy chair, "Gazelle" and a series of lamp shades. A special brochure, "Invest in Sweden!" was distributed to the visitors.

There are few things more expensive than a girl who is free for the evening.

New Easy Tours Of Denmark

For the first time ever, tourists can visit Denmark's popular Fairy Tale countryside "on their own", conveniently and at bargain rates, thanks to the newly introduced eight Easyway Tours of Denmark's highlights being offered by the Danish State Railways. Although you travel independently, you get detailed itineraries to guide you on what to see and do. These are supplied free of charge, with matching Easyway Tour tickets which are sold at a 20 per cent saving on the regular fare.

All the best express trains can be used with these tickets, even the famous lightning Diesel trains, as well as the Danish State Railways' many busines and popular ferry-boats.

One of the tours runs from gay Copenhagen to the Fairy Tale island of Funen, via the ancient cathedral town of Roskilde, historic Nyberg and Hans Christian Andersen's native town, Odense. Another focuses attention of delightful Fairy Tale sights and links Odense with the west coast port of Esbjerg via the wonderful "toy town" of Aeroskobering.

Still another links Esbjerg with the North Jutland ports offering ferry connection to Norway and Sweden, via the 1,000-year-old town of Ribe; Denmark's second largest city Aarhus, with its famous "Old Town", an open-air museum, and its modern university city, and Aalborg, interesting provincial city.

A combination of these tours will include most of the highlights of Denmark. Easyway Tours include transportation only. Hotels and local sight-seeing tours are left to the individual's own choice and can be reserved through any travel agent in the United States who also sells the Easyway Tours.

Direct international express trains now connect all parts of Denmark with the Continent. For instance, there are through-coaches twice a day between Esbjerg, via Ribe, to Hamburg; three times a day between Aarhus and Hamburg and twice a day between Aalborg and Hamburg. Last but not least, international expresses connect all the capitals of Western Europe with Wonderful Copenhagen.

GARDEN & HOUSEHOLD HINTS

LATE SUMMER GARDEN CARE — During the end of summer and early fall, when perhaps we have just returned from holidays and the garden and lawn have somewhat gone to seed, we might be tempted to just leave things to nature from now on in. This would be such a mistake. There may be a month or six weeks without frost yet and a few minutes each day of picking off wilted flowers and seed pods, trimming the rows and cutting the grass can pay such dividends. A good dousing of water and the whole place can be abloom again. The late bloomers are really the showiest of the lot and will keep on from now until freeze-up.

REPLANTING PEONIES—Late September is the best time to set out peonies because at this time the plant is almost dormant and will have a chance to get settled and its roots well imbedded in the soil before growth starts in the early spring.

Before lifting up the old plant it is wise to have the holes dug for the transplants. Dig down about two feet deep, then break up the soil below to provide some drainage. Also make holes large enough to allow for the roots spreading in growth. Partially fill the hole with good soil and pour in a couple of pails of water. Let stand until the water drains away.

When digging up the plants, first cut off top growth at ground level, then use a spade or digging fork, inserting it a reasonable distance from the crown so as not to injure the roots. Dig around first and then lift the clump out. Clear off all soil as well as possible and then, using a sharp knife, cut into sec-

"What's Cooking?"

CARROT PICKLES

Use the small ones which are approximately one inch or less in diameter. Scrub and cut into 1½ inch lengths. Boil with salt to taste until almost tender. Drain and place in sterile jars.

Make brine from a proportion of 1 pint vinegar, 1 pint water and ½ pint sugar. Add 1 teaspoon whole mixed pickling spice for each quart of pickles. When syrup has boiled, strain out most of spices and pour into jars with carrots. Partially seal jars and place in pan with old sealer rings at bottom and some hot water. Place in pre-heated oven at 300 degrees and let process for ¾ hour. Take out and screw tops tight.

BANANA BREAD

½ cup butter or shortening
1 cup sugar
Cream well. Add:
2 eggs
¼ cup nutmeats
3 bananas well crushed
2 cups flour, 1 tsp. soda sifted together
Bake 30 or 40 minutes, or till firm.

When grinding dry bread or crackers, tie a plastic or paper bag over knives of grinder to keep crumbs from flying around.

Eyes Front

From Kvarnsveden, Sweden comes word of a driver of an automobile who winked at an acquaintance standing to the right of the highway and in doing so, lost control of the car and swerved to the right, veered off the road and into a ditch. The result was an injured leg for the driver, who, along with his two passengers, were taken to Borlange hospital by ambulance. The two passengers received only minor injuries but the front end of the car was extensively damaged.

tions. See that there are four or more eyes to each section. The eyes are readily noticed as short sprouts from a ¼ to half an inch long. A dusting of sulphur or powdered charcoal on the cut surface will prevent fungus growth.

When planting the new divisions, fill in more soil in the dug holes and carefully spread out the roots. Tamp the soil down firmly. The crowns should now be about three inches below ground level. Now give each hole another pail of water and after it has soaked away, cover with a little mound of loose earth so that no surface water will collect over the crown during the winter. In the spring this loose earth should be raked away.

WOOD PRESERVER

If your kitchen cupboards are of natural wood, give them a coat of marine varnish. It will protect your cupboards as it does boat bottoms.

BURNISHED BRASS

Use lemon juice on a soft cloth or brush to clean unlaquered brass. Then wash with cold water and polish dry. Your brass will have a soft finish. This method is particularly good for intricate brasswork.
